Anti-Bullying Policy Easy Read
	We want Meadowfield School to be a happy place for everyone.
	We don't want anyone to feel sad here.
	Sometimes people can say things that make other people feel sad.
	Sometimes people can hurt others.
	Sometimes people can touch or get too close to others when they don't want them to.
	Sometimes people can do these things in real life or online in a text or other online message.
	This is not acceptable behaviour and if it keeps happening it could be called bullying.
	If you feel someone is bullying you, you should tell a teacher or another adult.
	The Principal will decide if the person who has upset you has done anything wrong.
	The person who has upset you might be asked to say sorry.
	The other person should change their behaviour.
	Sometimes the Principal may need to talk to other people to decide what to do.
	We must all always try to be kind and caring to other people.
	The school Governors will make sure the Principal stops any bullying in school.
