

A few content ideas for What's in the box/bucket?

To begin with ...

Bubbles

Hand held fan

Small torch

Balloon and pump

Flashing ball

Pop-up toys

Sensory toys

Some additional ideas ...

Wind-up toys

Woodpecker on a pole

Acrobatic monkey

Rainbow slinky

Rainmaker

Jump-up toys

Bubble wands

When clear motivators begin to appear you can look for items to meet individual interests

Light up toys

These are often a favorite particularly fans and spinning balls.

Spinning toys

There are a huge range of spinning tops available in a variety of sizes, some that light up or require a string to be pulled out. Yo-Yos are also fun to watch and often light up adding an extra element.

Flying toys

You can get a range of toys that fly. The wind up butterflies designed to go in greetings cards are lovely as you can encourage the child to ask you to wind 'more' for a better flight.

Balloons

There are a huge variety of things you can do with balloons. Confetti filled balloons are great fun to let go of and throw confetti all over the room. Rocket balloons have a mind of their own and are very noisy!

Dancing/musical toys

These can be a real hit and can really encourage asking for 'again' or 'more'. A huge variety are available of different sizes and shapes, particularly around Christmas.

Big movement toys

Some children find big movements most engaging. Dance ribbons and fans can really grab attention and encourage communication.

