Target Audience

SENCOs and/or a member of the school's wellbeing/pastoral team considering implementing the Multi Family Group intervention in their school.

Workshop Objectives

Multi-family groups in schools are a systemic intervention that help children and young people with emotional and/or behavioural challenges, by bringing together multiple families and education staff into one group.

Workshop Content

- An introduction to the Multi Family Group Intervention (an Anna Freud programme)
- The core principles of the Multi Family Group intervention
- The benefits of the intervention for the children and families in your school
- The commitment required by your school
- Feedback from local schools who have implemented the Multi Family Group intervention, including the impact and challenges that they have encountered.
